The New York State Grown & Certified program makes it easy for consumers to identify local, safely handled, and environmentally responsible agricultural products. This voluntary program is a cooperative effort among producers, processors, wholesalers, retailers, restaurants, and the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets to meet consumer demand for high-quality food and agricultural products.

Livestock producers and processors are eligible to participate in New York State Grown & Certified if they operate in an environmentally responsible manner as described in the Program Requirements. Upon acceptance to the New York State Grown & Certified program and submission of a signed trademark licensing agreement, program participants will be able to display a new high-impact label that will clearly stand out and tell the consuming public their food handling practices are audited and certified and they operate their farms in an environmentally responsible manner.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

- Applicability: Pigs spend 2/3 of life in New York State
- Safe Food Handling: Animals are slaughtered/processed in a USDA Inspected Slaughter/Processing Plant. Pigs must have official identification prior to slaughter. If pigs are raised outdoors, farm must participate in Validated Swine Brucellosis-Free Herd program. Farm participates in a third-party management program, such as the NY Pork Quality Assurance-Plus program
- Environmental Stewardship: Producer participates in the New York State Agricultural Environmental Management (AEM) program, administered by the Department of Agriculture and Markets, with the completion of Tier 2 of the program (or higher) within three years of admission into the New York State Grown & Certified program or have a CAFO permit. For processors to be eligible, a majority of producers must participate in one of these programs.
